REVIEW OF TANWEEN AND LETTERS OF ELONGATION

REMEMBER

Tanween is made when there are two of the same harakat together.

They make the sound of one of the harakat plus a noon sound.

So for instance,

بَابُ

Is pronounced

“baabun”

TANWEEN

Tanween is either made up of two fathahs, two dhammahs, or two kasrahs.

كَأَنَّ. كَأَسَا. كَأَسِ.

REMEMBER

Letters of elongation are letters (either the waaw, alif, or yaa) which was preceded by a letter which has a harakah which agrees with the letter of elongation.

REMEMBER

The harakah that agrees with the waaw is the Dhammah

The harakah that agrees with the alif is the Fathah

The harakah that agrees with the yaa is the Kasrah.
